

Genealogical Society of Marion County

Presents: Indiana Research

This is a look at statehood, census records, vital statistics, cemeteries, county histories, and newspapers, as well as exploring the resources available at the State Library, State Archives, and elsewhere.

1:00 p.m., Saturday, April 9, 2011

Lawrence Branch, Indianapolis-Marion County Public Library
7898 N. Hague Road (see map Lawrence Branch Library)

Lloyd Hosman, M.A., R.G., is an experienced genealogist and a member of the Association of Professional Genealogists. With over twenty years of research and speaking experience, he is also a former college professor, the author of Newspaper Research, and a former lecturer and researcher at Ye Olde Genealogy Shoppe in Indianapolis.

Special: Do you have a photo or document, or news article that you want scanned – but you don't have a scanner or know how to do it?

Bring it to this session and there will be an opportunity to have it done.

Also bring a blank CD or a thumb-drive that we can put it on.

If you plan to do this, please let us know by sending a note to info@GenealogyIndy.org.

For information on this program, email to: info@GenealogyIndy.org.

This event is not sponsored by the Indianapolis-Marion County Public Library.